The Premiere of gastrotommy!

What better time to premiere our one-of-a-kind food and wine show and launch the full web site than on the eve of the greatest American gathering of food, wine and family: Thanksgiving.

We are proud to announce that our first 3 episodes are now available for your viewing pleasure.

Thanksgiving is a time to reunite with the people we haven't seen all year. To join up around a common table and open a bottle of wine, share a meal, and trade stories. It's a time to offer thanks for everything we've been given in life, and a reminder that there's nothing more important than to give back, and give back, and give back.

In the spirit of community, the joy of a shared meal, and a great calling to give back, we proudly offer you gastrotommy: your online guide to the cultural world of food and wine. Our bi-monthly episodes are designed to impart everything we know about fine dining, libations, and living life to it's fullest.

At long last, it's time to start your journey with Tom and Danny. Join them in the vineyards of Au Bon Climat in Ep. 1 Part 1 as Tommy explains exactly what you can expect to experience and learn from watching his show.
